

SETTING CHOICES FOR MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Civil War

Today

A modern day corporation "called Messina Corp." The party at the beginning was an office Christmas party, with the guys in Santa/Elf costumes. I made Dogberry and the gang office security guards and janitors.

New York and Leonato owned a deli...they were coming home from the first world war, so that would make it 1920's right? My history is a little rusty....Anyway, it was fun to costume and I think I have a few pictures if you would like. The whole Hero/Margaret/Beatrice scene was around and up the fire escape on the side of the brownstone across the street from the deli which happened to be where Hero and Leonato lived (we called the Deli "Leo's") We implied some mob connections and a little bit about prohibition...actually worked quite well.

The old west

The 1950's too during the Korean War in a little town in America. Could do the hey nonny nonny song as a doowop
